THE HARBOR COMMISSIONERS MEET

Norfolk & Western Permitted to Extend Its City Coal Pier.

ANOTHER MEETING FRIDAY

To Consider Norfolk & Western's Application to Build a New Pier at Lambert's Point—Messrs. W. D. Pender and Others Wish to Build a Bridge From Norfolk to Berkeley—Harbor Masters Elected for the Ensuing Year.

The Board of Harbor Commissioners met in regular meeting at their office on Main street at 12 o'clock m. yesterday. Present, Mr. R. A. Doble, president, and the following members: Colonel Geo. W. Taylor and Mr. Jno. N. Vaughan, of Norfolk; Messrs. John T. King and Joseph F. Weaver, of Portsmouth; and Messrs. J. H. Jacobs and Geo. Lindsay, of Norfolk county. Messrs. R. H. Wright and M. B. Cressell, Captain N. M. Osborne, of the Norfolk and Western railroad, and City Engineer W. T. Brooke were also present.

The board was called to order and the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting of the board which had granted two permits: one to Mrs. Katherine L. Groner to erect an open wharf and directly by gravity from the coal cars into the harbor, and the other to the Norfolk and Western railroad, near the Elizabeth river, near the Fort Warden's line, in the sixteenth ward, and one to the Sanford & Brooks Company to build a bulkhead on the Eastern Branch of the Elizabeth river, near the Caspella bridge. The action of the board in these matters was approved.

The application of Mr. Charles J. Churchill, Engineer of Maintenance of Way, Norfolk and Western Railway Company, for permission from the board to construct a steel draw bridge over the Elizabeth river 75 feet in length, to extend out to the Port Warden's line, for the loading of coal directly by gravity from the coal cars into the harbor, was presented. Plans submitted, to be constructed of steel, wood and iron, was granted.

LAMBERT'S POINT PIER.

The matter of the building of a new coal pier at Lambert's Point and the extension of the same to the Port Warden's line, a most important matter, next claimed the attention of the board.

Mr. Doble, in presenting the matter before the board, stated that on the receipt of the letter from Mr. Charles J. Churchill, he wrote to him informing him that the plans presented in his communication would have to be more definite before any action could be taken on it by the board. Two large blue prints showing the character of the proposed pier, and the dimensions of the proposed pier, were on exhibition, and were carefully examined by the members of the board.

Captain Osborne, representing the Norfolk and Western Railway Company, was granted the privilege of the floor. He said that the object of the company in building this pier was to give greater facilities for the loading of vessels. He said that the new pier proposed to be erected would be seventy feet long, and would be built on the present wooden pier, and could not be in any way an obstruction to navigation. He only desired to get the permission of the board to erect the new pier to the point designated, and so far as the extension of the pier was concerned, he had no objection to making the extension without first bringing the matter before the board, and in the event of the further extension being asked for, and then he would be granted, the pier would be extended to the point designated, and the channel, as is shown by the map and plans presented to the board.

The captain said that the Norfolk and Western intends putting in $300,000 worth of improvements at Lambert's Point.

Mr. Doble said that he saw no objection to granting the permit for the building of the pier to the present Port Warden's line provided that the company would first give the board the assurance in writing that in the event of the company desiring to extend its pier or piers beyond the present Port Warden's line, it would first present the application before the board for its approval or rejection.

Major J. B. Quinn, of the United States Engineering Corps, in charge of harbor improvements here, was introduced to the board. He said the present Port Warden line below Lambert's Point was established as a tentative line. He thought it might be extended further out without detriment to the harbor.

harbor. He said the policy of the government is to have as many piers built as possible and that it is the policy of the harbor, so as to make room for vessels and get them out of the waterways. He favored the granting of the application with the proviso that the pier would not extend beyond the Port Warden's line without the approval of the Harbor Commissioners, and said that whether such a proviso is put in or not it is the policy of the government to consult the local authorities when parties apply for permission to use the waterways, and that when the matter reaches his office upon the application of the Norfolk and Western railway to the United States Government for permission to extend the pier beyond the present Port Warden's line, he should most certainly consult the Board of Harbor Commissioners on the subject.

Mr. Crowell said that what he had learned since coming to the meeting had placed a very different construction on the subject, and that he could not interpose any objection to the building of the proposed pier. He thought that at some day in the future it would be necessary for a change in the channel.

Mr. R. H. Wright, agent of the Merchants' and Miners' Transportation Company, said that after hearing what he had he was not disposed to make an objection to the building of the proposed pier. He, however, thought that the pier should not be extended beyond the Port Warden's line until the proposition had been presented to the Board of Harbor Commissioners, and the situation fully explained, and it should only be extended after the consent of the board had been obtained.

Colonel Taylor said that he thought the board ought to move slow in the matter and with great caution. While he was not altogether opposed to the building of the pier, he was not willing to vote for it until the board had assurances from the Norfolk and Western Railway Company that nothing would be done by it in the matter of the extension of the pier beyond the present Port Warden's line without the permission of this board.

Mr. Vaughan was favorably inclined toward the building of the new pier, but was willing if he was the expression of the Board to defer action to a postponed meeting, in order to hear from the authorities of the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company.

Captain Osborne said that he would communicate with them at once and get the desired information in writing, which would be able to obtain by Thursday.

On motion of Colonel Taylor action on the matter was postponed to an adjourned meeting to be held at 12 m. the next Friday, when Captain Osborne will be present with the desired information.

NEW PRECINCT WANTED.

A petition was presented to the Common Council asking that a new voting place be established in Atlantic City Ward. The petition was signed by a number of voters of that ward and had the endorsement of the Local Board.

Mr. Camp opposed the motion to approve the petition last night. He wanted it referred to a special committee for investigation and report.

Mr. Tilton favored the establishment of a new precinct in this ward, and called for an action on the part of the committee to refer to a special committee was adopted. This matter did not reach the Select Council. The members of the special committee from the Common branch are Messrs. Camp and Stahl.

MR. GEORGE P. M'CARRICK.

PASSES AWAY AT HIS HOME ON DUKE STREET.

The news of the untimely death of Mr. George P. M'Carriek, youngest son of Captain James W. and Mrs. George B. M'Carriek, at the home of his parents, No. 207 Duke street, at 11:15 o'clock Tuesday night, was received with deep sorrow by his vast number of friends in Norfolk.

The deceased was 22 years of age, and had been ill with typhoid fever for ten days, and although everything was done by loving parents and friends, the end came. He was a pure spirit winged his flight to a fairer and better clime than earth at the hour named, and it may be said of him, "The good are taken away from the world." He was a young man of fine qualities, rare endowments, and splendid character, and was idolized by his parents and loved and esteemed by an extensive circle of friends and acquaintances. His early educational training was at the College of the Holy Cross, after completing his studies there he entered Notre Dame College, Indiana, where he graduated with distinction. He was possessed of rare eloquentary gifts, and he has frequently appeared before the public as an orator, to restore him to health his pure spirit winged his flight to a fairer and better clime than earth at the hour named, and it may be said of him, "The good are taken away from the world."
